

Animal Control

The Animal Control Division provides support services to the Patrol Division. The division is staffed by four civilian employees. The primary function of the Animal Control Officer is to enforce city ordinances regarding pets and any other restrictions applying to wild animals or farm animals in the city.

Animal Control Officers respond to calls relating to stray dogs or cats, barking dogs, and investigate reports of animal cruelty and animal bites.

All stray dogs and cats are taken to the Dickinson Animal Shelter. The shelter is located on the grounds of the Public Works Building at 3405 Public Works Boulevard (off of Energy Drive in east Dickinson). The pound currently has twelve dog runs. Each run has a doggie door allowing de kennel. There are also 12 cat cages within the pound.

Animal Ordinances

All cats and dogs within the city limits must be licensed and have proof of current vaccinations. To obtain a pet license, go to City Hall (99 2nd ST E) during normal business hours. The license is valid for two years. For information about vaccinating your pet, contact a local veterinarian.

Cats and dogs must also be on a leash when the pet is unattended in an open yard or off of the owner's property.

No person shall harbor or keep more than three (3) animals upon a premises within the city limits unless the person obtains a special use permit (ex kennel operations, grooming businesses).

Animal Adoption

The Dickinson Police Department prefers to practice a “no-kill” policy on all impounded animals. With the help of area animal rescue groups, almost all animals are adopted by a new, caring family. Cats and dogs are held for 10 days at the shelter for the owner to claim. If no owner shows up after the ten-day waiting period, the pets can be adopted. All City of Dickinson Animal Shelter adoptions can be arranged by contacting an Animal Control Officer.
